Key Takeaways

Vietnam is a leading global exporter of cable trays, with significant shipments reaching multiple Southeast Asian markets, including potential exports to Thailand.Overview of Vietnam's Cable Tray Exports

Vietnam exported approximately 46,864 shipments of cable trays globally, making it the largest exporter in the world, ahead of India and China (Volza) . These exports are handled by over 2,000 Vietnamese exporters and reach buyers in more than 70 countries, demonstrating Vietnam's strong manufacturing and export capacity for cable support systems . The main materials used in these cable trays include hot-dip galvanized steel, aluminum, stainless steel, and epoxy-painted steel, with lengths typically ranging from 2.4 to 6 meters depending on the type of tray or ladder system .

Types of Cable Trays Exported

Vietnamese exports include a variety of cable support systems such as:

- Perforated trays for light cables
- Ladder trays for high-capacity industrial cables

• Wireways and adjustable cantilever brackets for specialized installations

• Ventilated covers and fastening accessories for straight cable tray sections These products are widely used in industrial projects, power stations, oil refineries, commercial buildings, and offshore platforms, indicating their suitability for large-scale infrastructure projects in Thailand .
Trade with Thailand

While Thailand is not listed among the top three destinations for Vietnamese cable trays (which include Cambodia, Japan, and Vietnam itself), the proximity and regional trade agreements within ASEAN make Thailand a likely and accessible market for these products. Vietnamese exporters often provide full shipment details, including HS codes (853710), product specifications, and verified buyer contacts, which facilitates trade with Thai importers .

Export Strategy and Market Insights

For businesses looking to source cable trays from Vietnam to Thailand:

• Identify verified exporters using trade databases like Volza or The Trade Vision, which provide shipment records, contact details, and product specifications .

• Focus on industrial-grade trays (steel or aluminum) for large-scale projects, as these are the most commonly exported types.

• Leverage ASEAN trade agreements to reduce tariffs and streamline logistics between Vietnam and Thailand. Vietnam's strong export infrastructure, combined with a wide range of cable tray products, positions it as a reliable supplier for Thai industrial and commercial projects.
