Hb-jbc relay protection tester

Overview

JBC-III Relay Protection tester is newly developed high intelligent, multi-function relay calibration equipment.

Key Takeaways

Compact, high-power relay test systems with IEC 61850 protection test capabilities and advanced touch interface. A software dedicated for commissioning and maintenance in digital substations. The instrument uses single-chip microprocessor technology over the same period by the number of milliseconds the table automatically, logic control unit, multi-function digital display. JBC-III Relay Protection tester is newly developed high intelligent, multi-function relay calibration equipment. It's Industrial Personal Computer, mainly used for the testing and research of various types of electromagnetic, integrated circuit and microcomputer protection relays and protection systems. DC voltage output: 0~350V continuous adjustable, output capacity: 960VA 2. The instrument's internal AC/DC voltage and current sources adopt the latest power technology, providing convenience for field personnel to apply the power instrument technology to.
