The cost of cable tray grating depends on several factors:

• Material: Common materials include galvanized steel, stainless steel, aluminum, and electroforged steel. Galvanized steel is generally more affordable, while stainless steel and specialized coatings for corrosion resistance increase the price .

• Type: Ladder-type, perforated, and solid-bottom trays differ in cost. Ladder-type trays are often the most cost-effective, while perforated or grating trays with full containment or fire-resistant features are more expensive .

• Dimensions and Load Capacity: Wider trays or those designed to carry heavier cable loads cost more. Custom sizes or heavy-duty specifications also increase pricing .

• Finish and Coating: Hot-dip galvanization, powder coating, or epoxy finishes for outdoor or corrosive environments add to the cost .
