Key Takeaways

Cable tray wall supports typically range from $10 to $50 per bracket, depending on type, material, and load capacity.Types of Wall-Mounted Cable Tray Supports
• Universal Wall Brackets Designed to support a wide range of cable trays, these brackets are adjustable to accommodate different tray sizes and shapes, making them ideal for installations with multiple tray types or varying wall conditions .

• Adjustable Wall Brackets Allow for changes in tray angle or height after installation. Useful for irregular walls or installations that may need future adjustments .

• Fixed Brackets Provide a permanent, stable attachment for a specific tray size. Best for flat walls and heavy cable loads, commonly used in industrial environments .

• U-Type and Ring Brackets U-type brackets support trays from below or the sides, while ring brackets encircle mesh or perforated trays to evenly distribute weight and prevent sagging .
Material and Standards

Most wall brackets are galvanized steel for durability and corrosion resistance. Many comply with CE certification, DIN 4102-12:1998, ISO 14001:2015, E90 fire resistance, and ISO 45001:2018 standards, ensuring safety and reliability in professional installations .

Pricing Overview
• Light-duty brackets: $10–$15 per piece

• Medium-duty brackets: $15–$30 per piece

• Heavy-duty or adjustable brackets: $30–$50 per piece Prices vary based on load capacity, material thickness, and supplier. Bulk orders or custom sizes may affect the final cost. Suppliers like Ekabel24, RS Components, and Alibaba offer online catalogs where you can request quotes or purchase directly .
Additional Considerations
• Ensure compatibility with your cable tray type (ladder, ventilated, or solid-bottom).

• Check installation requirements such as wall type and mounting hardware.

• Consider future expansion; adjustable brackets provide flexibility for adding more trays. For precise pricing, it is recommended to contact suppliers directly or use online quotation tools provided by distributors.
